

A B C MEDIATORS CALL A CONFERENCE OF ALL DELEGATES

FIRST GENERAL SESSION OF ALL
ENVOYS WILL BE HELD TONIGHT.

AMERICANS SURPRISED

Did Not Expect That Working Program Had Been Perfected at This Early Date—Hopeful of Success.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Niagara Falls, Ontario, May 23.—
Announcement was made shortly after noon today that the first full conference between the mediators
and both the American and Mexican delegates will be held tonight.
It was arranged at the request of the Mexican delegate who met the mediators informally this morning
after which the South American diplomats sent for the American diplomats to consult them about the matters.

It is understood that the envoys felt confident of being able to remove such obstacles as had delayed proceedings
during the consideration of preliminary matters.

Hope for Adjustment.
Delegates representing both sides
of the controversy between the
will go into their first business session hopeful that an amicable adjustment of all their difficulties will be the outcome.

The sudden calling of a full session
for tonight was not expected by the American delegates. They had made no plans for a meeting today. The envoys of South America had one talk with the Mexican delegates and it was generally thought nothing would occur today. Shortly after the Mexican delegates requested another audience with the mediators and as the result of this second talk the announcement was made that preliminary matters had been satisfactorily

settled and that the first full session
of the conference would be held tonight.

A statement was issued today from the Mexican delegates denying that Sullivan had been taken or that Gundalaza had been defeated. They say small groups of rebels harassing the neighborhood of San Luis Potosi had been repelled.

No Word of Delegates.

Washington, May 23.—At the Constitutionalist agency here today it was said no word had been received from General Carranza or from the mediators since the Constitutionalist
headquarters, although his arrival
from New York was expected during the day.

TWO MORE GERMAN AVIATORS ARE KILLED

Lieutenant Boeder and Lieutenant

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Onsabruck, Germany, May 23.—
Two more German aviators, Lieutenant Boeder and Lieutenant Reinhart met death today in the Prince Henry flying campaign, bringing the total since the start of the contest on Sunday last,
up to seven.

Committed Here: John Clary of Joliet was brought to the Rock county jail last night, not being able to furnish $250 bail. He was charged with non-support charges made by his wife
in his examination and he will be held for trial on this charge. District Attorney S. G. Dunwiddie prosecuted
the case.

HUERTA COMMANDER AND TROOPS REVOLT REFUGEES REPORT

General Jose Valasco Defeated by Villa at Torreon—Said to Have Turned Rebel.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Vera Cruz, May 23.—Six Americans
arrived here by train from Mexico City today. They brought with them an unconfirmed report that General Jose Velasco, the Federal commander, who was defeated at Torreon by General Villa, had fled to the capital and was later sent to San Luis Potosi, has revoluted against General Huerta together with most of the Federal troops under his command.

Washington, May 23.—Mexico City
dispatches to diplomatic courses here
today reported that when Constitutionalist troops captured Tepic several days ago they put to death the entire Federal garrison of three hundred officers and men. The dispatch
also confirmed reports that General Obregon's forces were hastening on to Guadalajara and that there was great apprehension among foreigners in that city.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS A B C CONFERENCES

Reporters Get Scant Attention at Niagara Falls—Interviews Strictly Tabooed.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Niagara Falls, Ont., May 23.—Mystery seems to be the watchword of the
A B C conferences and the American and Mexican representatives are doing everything in their power to smooth
over the differences between the United States and Mexico. War is the last thing thought about. The three Mexican representatives are members of the rich, privileged Mexican class.
They are representatives of the class that stood behind Diaz. It is their ambition to save as much as they can from the wreck; to prevent if they can a radical social or governmental change in Mexico. They know the weakness of the Huerta government
and it is believed would sacrifice Huerta if by so doing they could gain
any advantage for their class.

Refuse Interviews.
All the attempts of the newspaper
men to secure interviews from Messrs.
Lehman and Lamar, the American representatives at the conference, have been as futile as their sales on the
A B C mediators and the Mexican representatives. Especially pronounced is the air of mystery and secrecy in and about a room on the first floor of the Clifton Hotel, into which leads the main stairs from the hotel, and which from the White House. A sign, "Men's Waiting Room," has been supplanted
by one reading: "This Room Strictly Private." An Ontario "Bobby" in blue clothes and by hand felt stands outside to prove it.

Even the English government is impressed by the dignity and formality
attached to the mediation proceedings.
Canadian secret service men are much in evidence. Mr. Macdowell, British minister of agriculture, has tendered a banquet to the mediators and the representatives of the American and Huerta governments. Mayor Dore of Niagara Falls is another host on the mediators, and is showing much solicitude
for the comfort of the diplomatic visitors.

Little is seen of the Mexican representatives, Augustin Rodriguez, Emilio Rabasa and Louis Elguero. Senator
Rodriguez is the oldest of the statesmen appearing before the mediators.
He is accompanied by his family, but they do not appear except at meal
times or to go for an automobile ride
in the afternoon.

Keep Close to Work.

For the most part the Mexican representatives and their attaches keep
to the conference room, their home
is Manuel Martinez Del Campo, who looks after the interests of his country with the outside world
through the newspapers.

The two firm and fast friends of the whole South American part however are George Edward Suarez, twenty-two, son of the Chilean minister,
and Romulus Naoa, Jr., eleven, son of the Argentine minister. This is their first visit to Niagara Falls, as it is for Mexican and Mexican representatives and members of their families who have accompanied them.

Just how long the mediation proceedings will last is a matter of speculation. The mediators themselves are fairly affre with energy. Diplomatic formalities and customs require considerable time, however, and several of the mediators have expressed the opinion that they would not be here longer than two weeks.

ROOSEVELT REFUSES TO TALK POLITICS; BUSY ON NEW BOOK

Receives Progressive Delegates by Dozens but Says He Wishes to Keep Out of All Politics.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Oyster Bay, New York, May 23.—
"I'm trying to keep out of politics as much as possible just now," said Col.
Roosevelt today. He made the remark in all seriousness notwithstanding the fact that every one who comes to South America has been seeing him
political delegations at the rate of half dozen a day.

He declined to express any views
concerning the work of the Progressive party upon his opinion regarding proposals for its amalgamation
with the republican party.

Just at present Col. Roosevelt said he was busy with the preparation of a new book that would take all his spare time until after his return from Spain in July. After that he will give more time to politics.

"I'd like to get acquainted with my family," he explained, but shook his head doubtfully as he said it.

STOP "DRY" PICNIC TO SAVE BREWERY

Drys Celebrating Election Victory
Save Large Brewery From Flames
—Then Drink Lemonade.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Preston, Minn., May 23.—The Preston brewery, operated in a prohibition town and country took fire today and was the cause of breaking up the dry fashion picnic held in celebration of
the result of the recent election when the city voted to continue without the city while the selling of liquor was forbidden by the saloons. Its manufacture is not, and the brewery is a large one. The members of the picnic fought the fire and saved the plant. No serious loss is announced.

But the brewery will continue to operate. The tired and thirsty men returned to their picnic, and refreshed themselves with large quantities of lemonade and grape juice.

BROOKLYN BRIDGE OPEN
TO TRAFFIC THIRTY-ONE YEARS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, May 23.—Thirty-one years ago today Brooklyn Bridge, for a long time the greatest structure that spanned any river, was opened to traffic. The only celebration was the flying of flags from the Manhattan and Brooklyn ends. In its thirty-one years the great suspension bridge had
earned close to $24,000,000 in tolls for
the city, according to estimates based
on the earnings of $23,254,672.31 up
to one year ago.

Each year the bridge is a source of revenue is from street cars. An average of about 4,000, at a revenue of ten cents a car, pass over the bridge
every day.

SALE OF CARP NETS STATE
THE NEAT SUM OF $25,000

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., May 23.—The state of Wisconsin paid $25,000 net last year from the sale of carp and an equal amount the year before. The expense to the state was nothing, being borne by contractors by whom the lake and Brookly ends. In its thirty-one years the great suspension bridge had
earned close to $24,000,000 in tolls for
the city, according to estimates based
on the earnings of $23,254,672.31 up

YOUNG WIRELESS OPERATOR

New York, May 23.—A tablet for the memory of Ferdinand J. Kuehn, the young wireless operator of the Old Dominion steamship Monroe, was unveiled in public school No. 40, on the East Side, yesterday. The tablet is a gift from the school of which Kuehn
was a member.

Kuehn gave up his life belt to a woman
passenger of the Monroe in the collision with the steamship Nantuxet
on January 30, and so lost his life.

BARABOO G. A. R. MEN BOOST A CANDIDATE

Will Nominate Walter O. Pletzsch for State Commander at Madison Convention.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Baraboo, Wis., May 23.—Joe Hooker
Post No. 9 of the Grand Army of the Republic has brought out Walter O.
Pletzsch for senior vice commander of the Wisconsin department. The election will be held during the encampment of the G. A. R. at Madison
next month, and the Baraboo comrades will put up a strong fight for their candidate.

Mr. Pletzsch is one of the more youthful members of the Grand Army.
He enlisted at the age of 17. Now he is twenty-two months of being 70 years old, but he looks and acts like a mere boy of 50. Mr. Pletzsch enlisted in June, 1862, in Company A of the Ninteenth regiment of infantry. He was made prisoner at Fair Oaks in 1864,
and for eight months languished in the pen of Salisbury, where, surrounded by his fellow captives died of starvation, disease and cruelty at the hands of the confederate officers. In June, 1865, he was mustered out and once began an active business career at Baraboo and other nearby
cities. For several years Mr. Pletzsch has been in the state service as chief clerk of the industrial commission, formerly the bureau of labor. In this position his loyalty and attention to the state's business must have been an inspiring example to other younger employees of the state.

Besides being an active member of the Grand Army, Mr. Pletzsch is a thirty-second degree Mason. He never has sought an imaginary or real military rank, but prides himself on having been one of the Wisconsin boys of the rank and file in the fight for the preservation of the Union.

a member of one of the oldest families of St. Louis, died of hardening of the arteries at the age of soldiers during the civil war. He mittee of the Louisiana purchase

CARDINAL STARTS FIGHT
ON MYSTIC SOCIETIES

University of Wisconsin Publication
Challenges Their Right to Exist.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., May 23.—The Daily
Cardinal, organ of University of Wisconsin students, has challenged the Yellow Helmet and the Monastic societies to prove their right to exist.
The Cardinal charges the societies with being useless, with creating dissension among fraternity men, and with "loitering" in the clubrooms, and it asks the faculty to deny them all official recognition, including the right to have their elections announced in the Cardinal.

The public likes to know the percentage of the things for which it is asked to spend its good money.

A name made familiar
through advertising carries with it a certain pedigree. It breathes respectability and responsibility.

When those goods have been made known through the columns of their home newspapers
the dealers know they are carry-

duced to the customers, and that are desired by their customers.

BULL MOOSE PARTY COMING BACK INTO REPUBLICAN RANKS

Foreign Policies of Present Administration Not to General Satisfaction of General Public.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., May 23.—The complete registration of the state of Pennsylvania furnishes evidence of the decline of the Bull Moose party in that state. In 1912 the Republican vote in that state was 233,360. The Bull Moose registration which has just closed totals 231,485, a Republican gain of 408,125.

The vote cast by the Progressives
in 1912 in Pennsylvania was 44,894.
The third party's total registration is now only 114,611, a Progressive loss of 330,283.

The Democratic vote in 1912 was 395,847. The Democratic registration just closed totals 374,617, a Democratic loss of 21,230. In other words, the Bull Moose party is losing in 1912
than are now registered.

These figures show the political trend. Not only are the Pennsylvania Progressives coming back into the Republican party, but Democrats have become disgusted with the incompetency of the party in power and are joining the other parties. In all sections of the country
the same situation exists.

There is a recently published in the Congressional Record, a remarkable
"defense" of the administration, in the form of a speech by Colonel George Harvey, editor of the North Western Review, delivered before the Merchant's club of Boston. It will be recalled that Colonel Harvey originally discovered Woodrow Wilson as a presidential candidate, and was his chief supporter. He therefore spoke in his own defense, but what is more to the point, that it may be able to find somewhere in the vicinity of Tampico a cannon that can be fired
twenty-one times without exploding.

Else how can we anticipate that our country, because we are able to place
upon his brow the laurels of a world pacificator, and clasp in his bosom the Nobel prize of $40,000,
the equivalent of $60,000 full paid
subsidy to the commonwealth of Massachusetts, that we should be far from my intention to discuss our variegated Mexican policy at this time. I could not do it. I shouldn't know, at the moment, whether to laugh or to cry.

Discussing the success of the new tariff, Colonel Harvey was equally as complimentary for he said:
"We reformed the tariff not precisely
as we reformed our diplomatic service, because we reduced the precise degree of that production was not fixed during the campaign, and it must be admitted that we went somewhat beyond the terms of the bill,
which had already passed the Democratic house of representatives. Some say even now, as Artemus Ward said
of Napoleon, that we tried to do too much, and we did it. People in Louisiana who are breaking their sugar machines to break and some of the farmers in the west are talking
that way, very much as the farmers
voted at the last congressional election in Iowa. But what of it? We had a principle to sustain, and sus-tain it we did."

It may be needless to add that Colonel Harvey's "defense" of the administration will not be printed as a Democratic campaign document.

Congress recently passed an act
providing a temporary method of conducting nominations and elections of United States senators. Several states whose legislatures have not convened since the ratification of the amendment have been without election machinery to carry out the provisions of the new law. The bill provides for cases of this kind.

During the course of the debate
Congressman Joseph E. Knowland of California who is the leading candidate from that state for United States senate, in a speech declaring that he had always strongly favored the election of United States Senators by a direct vote of the people called attention to the fact that since the amendment had been in effect
senators had been chosen in the states of Maryland and Georgia and nominated in Alabama and South Dakota.

"In each instance," he declared, "it has been demonstrated that the people are as capable of choosing their senators as they are of choosing their representatives in the house, and we now have a direct vote of the people in the various states to the detriment of public business."

ARE ELECTING POSTMASTER
OUT IN KANSAS TOWN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Cottonwood Falls, Kan., May 23.—
Citizens of this city are voting today for a postmaster. Six are in the race. More interest is being displayed than at a primary election.
Through the campaign, the candidates, five men and the other a woman,
have been carrying on an aggressive
fight.

The election is the result of the agreement made by Representative Dudley Doellittle's agreement to leave the postmastership to the vote of the people. He will appoint the candidate receiving the largest number of votes.

The lightship wreckage was sighted

HOLD ART STUDENT FOR BRUTAL ATTACK

Young Florentine Who Had Gambled Away His Money Admits Robbing Aged Chicago
Woman

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Florence, Italy, May 23.—A Florentine art student, Polio Rossi, was arrested today on suspicion of being the man who robbed Mrs. Mary Flavelle of Chicago on Thursday
while she was on the train. Rossi later confessed the crime. He is a student of the Social Science Institute, and twenty-four years old. I have gambled away almost all the money
I possessed and had started on my way home to Pultane. I order you to inform my family of my predicament.
On the train I saw an old lady who apparently had one foot in the grave, and money would not mean much to her. I decided to steal it. I would not have tried to kill her if she had not screamed when I grasped her satchel, then I lost my reason.

The accused is kept under close watch. The condition of Mrs.
Flavelle has improved today and the physicians state that she would survive if her constitution was strong enough to recuperate from the loss
of blood caused by the wounds.

ference arranged this forenoon for Charles Becker, convicted murderer, was the second time of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was with his counsel, Martin T. Manton, and Mrs. Becker. An appeal from the verdict, it was said,
was under dispatch at this time.
Becker spent a quiet night in his cell at the Tombs, and awoke refreshed
and apparently cheerful.

District Attorney Whitman today
collected the following letter from Mayor Mitchell:
"I have just heard the outcome of the Becker case. The whole community is under obligation to you.
Your work has been splendid."

The district attorney is being loaned today will submit to hand writing

the gunmen during their stay at the Sing Sing state prison. They were passed from Becker to the gunmen between the leaves of library books of the prison, which are permitted to circulate among the prisoners condemned to death. Written in a disguised hand the district attorney believes they came from Becker and he is holding them in reserve for opportunity to use them as evidence against Becker in the trial against the charge of a reversal judgment from the court of appeals.

POLITICIANS STILL IN SERIOUS MIX-UP

DEMOCRATS AND REPUBLICANS DO NOT SEEM ABLE TO MAKE ANY COMPROMISE.

IS WAR TO DEATH NOW

LaFollette Organization Will Wage Bitter Conflict on McGovern and His Senatorial Aspirants.

(By Bob Acres.)

N. B. This is one of a series of political articles written exclusively for the Gazette.

There is no doubt that political affairs in Wisconsin are sadly muddled up at the present writing. With LaFollette-McGovern republican factions warring to the death, the revival of the old Stab republican organization, the non-partisan, republican and democrats, to hold a state convention, the progressive republicans, repudiated by the return of Roosevelt from Madison, and the decided avowed democratic faction fighting the Karel crowd, it is no wonder the average voter is puzzled what to do and where to stand.

That LaFollette and McGovern are going to have a battle royal with the war waged to the very death of one faction or the other, is certain. Senator LaFollette is coming back to fight the Karel crowd, and he is not to be forgotten. McGovern realizes this and he is laying his plans of battle accordingly.

Speaking of this I might say right here that E. L. Philipp and John M. Whitehead, and the others of the twenty-eight old-line republicans, who met in Milwaukee this week and decided to call a state convention of republicans, have wonderfully aided LaFollette in cementing his disordered forces together against the common foe, the Karel crowd. It was a mistake in my mind for these former federal office holders, former state office holders and disgruntled republicans, to meet and decide to call a state convention. Everyone realizes why Monahan, Tennyson, McGovern, Seefeldt, Whitehead and Philipp are so bitter against LaFollette, and it does not help the general cause any. However, it is done, and while it may not amount to much, it has disorganized the Karel crowd by a non-partisan ticket.

Speaking of this let me say, I have visited a good many parts of the state in the past six weeks. Have talked with politicians big and little, republicans and democrats, and they all agree that the tax question is the sole issue. While many did not favor the non-partisan idea of placing a state ticket in nomination, they do not mind a good fight, and come by the endorsement by this organization of some one of the candidates already in the field who meet the requirements.

This may be sound policy, but who will they endorse? There is Hutton, a known LaFollette man, who, if elected, would be merely a tool to the great game. There is Walter O. Wenzel, endorsed by both McGovern and LaFollette. What is gained by electing him? There is Merlin Hull, who rings true, but still leans toward LaFollette. There is Karel, who is a man's man, and who stands on his bottom. I should say in his own words, he is a man, and talks plain facts to plain people. This much for the republican party.

Now there is Judge Karel of Milwaukee on the democratic side. Thus far he is the only real democratic candidate for the office. He will be nominated without a question, but even then could he be elected? I find that throughout the state the question of religion is going to play an important part. The Sons of Luther, or some such organization, is against Karel, because he is a Catholic. It is to be regretted that religion and politics are entering into the same field, for if this is carried out, John A. Ward, a so-called catholic and democrat, also a Catholic and democrat, is slaughtered. Karel has made no official platform announcement, so one can not but guess what he stands for.

By the way, Karel called his followers into Milwaukee Friday and they talked ways and means, methods and campaign plans. It was a prelude to the meeting of the democratic state control committee held today in the Cream City when the question of holding a state convention will be decided upon. On this the state central committee is divided. I am told, Hutton, the state chairman, has a far federal job and he may leave for the Karel crowd, as he regards this question, and if he does, it will be against a state convention. Never mind, we are to have two state conventions anyway. One, the old-fashioned crowd at Madison, and the other the non-partisan or LaFollette crowd. Do all the secret work you want on the state ticket nominations, but in doing so do not forget that it is the legislature that enacts the laws, and that if the high taxes are to be reduced, the greed of the university curbed and state expenses cut down, it must be by the members of the next legislature. That is the hub of the whole proposition.

WAR TIME SONGS.

SONGS THAT DESERVE A PLACE IN HISTORY

The songs that were sung during the great civil war—that had their origin directly from the hearts of the people while the fierce four years struggle was going on—these songs deserve a place in history. They served to soothe the fears and allay the anxious moments of many a crisis when the humming wires of a nation dashed and meant the destruction of the Union. They calmed and comforted the women who were left at home—with grief and suffering paramount in each of the days that dragged on so weary length. They served as the outpouring of that silent agony which must find utterance or break the heart. They were the audible and visible supplications of the millions that could only watch and pray while the gallant boys in blue and gray fought the battles at the front.

The music and the words of these war songs cannot be reproduced in this issue. It needs the inspiration of a momentous war to produce their like. And it is eminently fitting that they should be gathered into one volume such as "War Songs."

This unique book, offered by this paper, almost as a gift to its readers, contains nearly every song, either of the north or south, that brought solace to the heart on the home, or the gallant boys in the ranks—during the thrilling days of the greatest war ever fought. We consider that we are fortunate in being able to offer this treasury of songs on such terms that every home into which this paper goes can own at least one copy. The coupon printed elsewhere in this issue explains fully how the reader can procure the book.

TRAINING SCHOOL NOTES.

The third annual junior-senior banquet was held at the training school Thursday evening, May 21, and it was a very pleasing and successful affair. The juniors served a four-course dinner, which was enjoyed by all. After the dinner a program of toasts was given, Hazel Gower acting as toastmistress. The following program was presented, each person giving their part very entertainingly and acceptably. The toasts were mostly of a humorous character.

Piano Selection—Lillian Hendrickson.
The Seniors—Alice Carroll.
The Juniors—Frances Byrne.
Chorus—The School.
The Faculty—Alice Smith.
Response—Miss Ella Jacobson.
Piano Selection—Lillian Sumnerfelt.
The Rural School—O. D. Antisdell.
Humorous Selection—"The One-Legged Goose"—Lillian Sumnerfelt.

Piano Selection—Marie Dobson.
After the program a pleasant social hour was spent with music and games. Everybody had a fine time.

Elizabeth Gower visited the school taught by Lydia Sommerfelt Wednesday afternoon, and she will go to three or four country schools next week.

This year the school will enjoy a picnic up the river, the day after commencement. Plans are being made for this picnic, which will not doubt be an annual outing hereafter.

Elizabeth Gower is teaching at the school Monday and Tuesday for her cousin, Gladys Huginin, in district number one, town of Bradford. Marion Williams has been obliged to stay out of school this week on account of illness in her home.

The training school has been sending out letters this week to all the clerks in the schools where the training school graduates are teaching, for the purpose of ascertaining the success of the different young women in their schools. One question seeks to ascertain the social standing of the teacher.

The students spent Friday afternoon studying birds at the library, visiting the county jail, the police station, greenhouses, and other places of interest. It was a profitable and interesting afternoon.

The senior class is now studying the subject of school law, especially that which pertains to the rural school. The laws of 1913 are receiving special attention.

A circular letter is being sent out to all the graduates of the school concerning the commencement program and the Alumni banquet. Most all of the classes of former years will be present for both programs on Thursday, June eleventh. The officers of the Alumni association are as follows:

President—Mabel C. Francis, Janesville.

Vice president—Alice Wilder, Evansville.

Secretary—Margaret Vickerman, Milton.

Treasurer—Corrine Crandall, Milton Junction.

Each member of the senior class has been supplied with three different catalogs of teachers' books and school supplies in order that necessary material may be promptly purchased when their schools open in the fall.

Mr. King, a representative of the Newson Publishing company, gave the members of the senior class a lecture and class demonstration in the first grade upon the subject of teaching primary reading, Thursday forenoon.

Sport Snap Shots

Doubts have been expressed as to the justice of Governor Tenney's decision and lines in the Sweeney-Magee altercation. Most everyone agrees that Magee pulled Sweeney quite accidentally when he slid into second. Sweeney, enraged, pounded Magee with the ball while he lay on the ground. Magee hopped to his feet and wanted explanation. Another Sweeney handed him a kick on the jaw that dropped him. Tenney fined them both $50 apiece. It would seem that if the kick took place as reported, Sweeney should draw the biggest fine. And in fact it's hard to see the equity of fining Magee at all.

Doc Johnson of the Cleveland Naps thinks that a base on balls should be scored as a base hit. The rule as it stands is all right enough, says Doc, but it ought to go a great deal further. As things stand a batter isn't charged with time at bat when he gets a pass, but I figure that it should be otherwise. Let it be a time at bat, but give him credit for a hit when he coaxes that pitcher for four wide ones. Believe me, it's just as hard to get a pass, as a general thing, as it is to hit safely. Any team knows how unpleasant it is to have a weak hitter get to first without effort. Why shouldn't the man who is clever enough to work the pitcher for a base get the credit that one deserves for a safe single? Occasionally a hard hitter is handed his base and the manager in the pulling would make this occur less frequently. I think it's a darn good idea. Doc says he hasn't figured it out yet whether a player should be given a hit when he gets his base by being hit with a pitched ball.

Women make fine baseball bugs, but they're a shade too emotional. One of them almost started a lynch mob in a game in St. Louis a few days ago. It was a high school affair and it appears that the lady was some kin or kin to one of the players. When the umpire made a poor decision she rushed out and started shouting "Protest! Protest!" like that. Most everyone thought she was shouting "Protest! Protest!" and quite a few cops were necessary to quell and coerce the unruly spectators. One of the players who had happened to be on the field after it was all over expressed his intention of going back to the game at a game at which women were present.

Further Frank Gibson has made an agreement with the Cardinals. On being sent back to Nashville, Gibson had it fixed as part of the arrangement that he should be sent back if there was any change in the end of the season of the Cardinals being in on the world series. Frank is a good business man even if he isn't fast enough to be in fast company at present.

BUSY DAYS MAKING READY FOR SEASON

New Buildings Going Up in Record Breaking Time at Park Association Track.

By C. E. (Buck) Hunter.

A trip to the fair grounds would do you good nowadays to see the improvements that are going on; it would put one in mind of being out west during a rush in a new town that had been started up for the men that are working on the new barns are certainly speed boys in their lines, for it will only be a few more days until both barns are completed and ready to move in.

The old grandstand is a thing of the past, as it is lying in different piles around the grounds and the old lumber will be used in building hog and sheep barns for the coming fair. A committee has been out through the country for the past four days, interesting the farmers in Janesville's new project, the Janesville fair, and they report everything favorable, which goes to show the farmers are as much interested in the welfare of the city as the people that live here, so while everything is moving along so smoothly why not all join in and sell our hammers and buy hams to boost together.

The amount of speed that has been bottled up all winter has caused some of the different trainers a lot of uneasiness, and to show some of the boys that he had plenty of the fluid on hand, W. N. Millard last week stepped Baron Maximus an easy mile in 2:30; of course at the time this made some of them sit up and take notice.

On last Tuesday, just for fun, he let this same trotter step another mile in 2:25. Thursday's rain made the track lightning fast for the boys to work on Friday. Tom Root came over from Rockford to see his horse addition, 2:07 1/2, perform, and on the same day the fastest of condition kind let him step an easy mile in 2:30 with the last quarter in 30 seconds, just to remind the owner that he has a horse in training.

Toddy Coclate (3) was permitted to step a half mile in 1:16, with the last quarter in 26 seconds, not so very bad for a three year old so early in the season. Mable Riser has been taking her work very kindly this spring and no sensational miles has been asked of her so far, as she done a mile in 2:30 on Friday.

E. Ray Lloyd is a very busy man at present, as he is doing the training on three horses: The Rex, Attorney Penn (3) and Dr. Munn's Pay Day, besides doing the majority of the shoeing at the track.

Three new horses have been added to the different stables in the past week. John Sheridan sending his three year old pacer and Chas. Daley's three year old trotter, going to Ralph Wauffle stable. John Shively of Evansville sent his three year old trotter to the Shamrock stable.

The weather the past three weeks has put training far in advance of last season, and up to date there is no place in Illinois or Indiana that horses have stepped any faster than they have here in Janesville.

While many of the older trainers are not much in favor of fast miles so early in the season, it must be understood that some of the horses that are in training at present are staked in the Michigan Short Ship Circuit, and these races will start in July, and consequently it is necessary to begin tuning these horses up in order to get some of the easy money they talk about having over through that part of the country.

Bill Holt's kindergarten class are doing nicely at present; it is quite amusing to see a yearling he is giving his first lesson and to see the way this little thing can wiggle away makes you sit up and take notice. Mildred Axworthy (2) is fast developing into a full grown mare, and all indications point to great things for this filly this season if all signs do not fail.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this first day of May, 1914.

OLIVE M. HAYWARD, Notary Public.

My commission expires July 12, 1914.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

Someone has said that it adds nothing to a man's stature, either mentally or morally, to elevate him to office. It does, however, clothe him with authority, and as a rule egotism and self-esteem rapidly develop.

The state of Wisconsin has turned out a small army of this class of recruits during the past few years, who are employed to present the various commissions which now infest the state.

The commissions themselves are composed of men more noted for political activity than for intellect and executive ability, and so the taxpayers are consoled by the statement that it costs more money to run the state than in former years, and that taxes will be higher next year.

While these smiling politicians and their emissaries annoy the people of the state like a swarm of gnats, our representatives higher up, of the La Follette-Cummins stripe, are doing what they can to keep things stirred up at the seat of government.

The "Railway Age" in a late issue, takes Senator La Follette to task for misrepresentation in discussing the railway situation, three years ago, and then says:

"The gentleman from Wisconsin does not improve with age. In a speech in the senate which was published in the Congressional Record for October 28, 1913, page 487, he said: 'In 1905 more than 10,000 passengers and more than 48,000 employees were killed on the railroads of the United States.' Now, the total number of passengers killed in 1905 was 537, and the total number of railway employees killed was 2,261. In the entire ten years, 1904-1913, inclusive, the number of passengers killed was only 4,263, or 5,731 less than Mr. La Follette said were killed in 1905 alone, and the number of employees killed in that ten years, including those who were off duty at the time, was only 33,664, or 4,326 less than Mr. La Follette said were killed in 1905 alone.

"We could go on column after column enumerating similar statements that have emanated from Mr. La Follette. Because of his official position he can secure widespread publicity for them. If such statements are allowed to go unrefuted—as they formerly were—the public is sure to accept them as true. Is it not, then, desirable that they shall be refuted and that the truth about all such matters shall be told so as to make it impossible for misrepresentations to take root and flourish as so many have in the past? The muckrakers and demagogues have forced the railways to use every legitimate means at their command to get the facts about their affairs before the public."

The state of Iowa was the only state in the union to show a decrease in population, at the last census, and the shrinkage is still going on. The decline in Iowa commenced with the election of A. B. Cummins as governor in 1902. And with Cummins and his colleague, Kenyon, now representing the state in the United States senate, the decline is still going on.

Over-estimated reformers always turn out to be demagogues, and Iowa, as well as Wisconsin, is suffering from demagogic rule. The present congress is largely represented by men of this class, and some of their duties are portrayed in the following spicy article from the pen of John Kendrick Bangs.

"One of the most interesting fields of speculation available for the student these swiftly moving days is to be found in trying to figure out just how far our friends who advocate public ownership of the earth really expect to go in their effort to put the private individual out of business. Signs are not wanting that the germ let loose not long since by Postmaster General Burleson in his bid for the control of the telegraph and telephone systems of the country, has fallen upon fertile soil in the gray matter of some of his fellow cabinet officers, and various worthy workers already in the public service are beginning to wonder somewhat anxiously just where they are coming out, and in what official capacity they are going to end their official careers. For instance, is our distinguished confederate in journalism, Secretary Daniels, advocating a plan to turn our armored cruisers into an official express company in times of peace, to carry packages from one port to another in a sort of auxiliary service to the parcels post. This may a rear-admiral, after years of struggle, find himself occupying a serenely comfortable berth at a sort of glowing messenger boy as the crowning achievement of his career.

"There have been no intimations from Washington that other secretaries are working along lines similar to those of Secretary Daniels in this venture, but it is unquestionable that there are many other enterprises upon which, actuated by principles of economy, the various departments might profitably embark. If the navy is going into the express business we don't see any reason why the army also, should not be employed—subtly, possibly, to window-washing concerns, or sent to fetch and carry on rural free delivery routes. Then, in the treasury department, there must be many old copper or steel plates used for the engraving of issue of bonds in days gone by from which a most attractive style of wall-paper might be printed for use in the hallways and smoking rooms of retired millionaires. With proper respect, and in a duly awesome spirit, we would also suggest that even the members of congress, under ordinary conditions, have a certain amount of idle time on their hands which might properly be devoted to some profitable by-service. We see no special reason why they, too, should not be set to work upon such odd chores as present themselves at the capitol itself, done heretofore by unofficial individuals who merely form an additional burden upon the treasury. Why employ a corps of gilders, for instance, to keep the eagle's tail-feathers resplendent, or a legion of brass polishers to 'polish up' the handles of the big front doors' when, while congress is not really in session, there are so many congressmen just sitting around and twiddling their thumbs?

"We trust that before congress adjourns it will provide for the appointment of another commission, this time to look into and systematize the possible uses of the present surplus and wasted stores of military, naval, and congressional elbow-grease."

SPANISH WAR VETS
RECEIVE G. A. R. MEN

JANESVILLE VETERANS OF TWO WARS BECOME BROTHERS IN COMMON ORDER.

INITIATE TWENTY-FIVE

Harry L. Gifford Camp Confers Honorary Membership on G. A. R. Men on Friday Evening.

Twenty-five members of W. H. Sargent post No. 20, G. A. R., were initiated as honorary members of Harry L. Gifford camp No. 23, United Spanish War Veterans, at the Grand Army hall last evening and for the first time the Janesville veterans of two wars greeted each other as brothers in a common order.

The Spanish war veterans assembled at their lodge rooms and marched to the East Side Old Fellows hall to confer the degree upon the Grand Army men. Carl A. Buchholz, junior vice-commander of the department of Wisconsin, conducted the ceremony, after which short addresses were delivered in which the note of common fellowship predominated.

The following G. A. R. members were initiated into the Spanish War veterans' order: Charles Viney, Michael Raby, John Kruse, L. H. Lee, J. D. Boyd, B. H. Baldwin, William Maraden, Labon Fischer, C. H. Smith, F. J. Smith, John Beilman, Fred Braum, B. P. Winslow, Glenn, David Lawrence, C. J. Schott, R. R. Resigue, D. J. Cummings, J. F. Carle, S. C. Burnham, William Pearl, Wallace M. Briggs, William Pearl, C. C. Aiken.

The local Spanish war veterans' camp extends a cordial invitation to all Janesville Grand Army men to be enrolled as honorary members and it is expected that a large number will be received in the course of a few months. The idea of the union is to secure a greater and more effective co-operation in the coming of the patriotic spirit and to further the public interest along patriotic lines. The unification is well under way in every state of the union.

The Grand Army men may be re-called into the Spanish war veterans' order at any regular meeting, which they are welcome to attend. The meetings are held on the second Wednesday evening of each month at 8 o'clock.

Gratification was expressed by every veteran present at last night's gathering that the two patriotic orders now stand virtually as one in their aims and that the union of the two orders will perfect plans for the observance of Memorial day and every other patriotic event.

BELOIT GREEK GIVEN YEAR'S PRISON TERM

Greek Who Attempted to Escape Jail Given One Year at Waupun by Judge Maxfield.

Theodore Karanopoulos, Beloit Greek, was sentenced by Judge Harry L. Maxfield to one year in the state's prison at Waupun this morning when the Beloit prisoner waived his examination on the charge of attempting to escape jail and plead guilty to the charge.

Karanopoulos was sentenced to the Rock county jail a week ago by Judge Clark of the Beloit municipal court for breaking into a store of a fellow countryman. The reason given by the man for coming from the jail was that hunger drove him to take this means of obtaining food. Monday morning at the county jail he escaped after he had been set to work in the yard hauling ashes, but was captured in the afternoon by a chief of police. Judge Maxfield imposed the year's sentence stating that it would mean an education for the man, who could not read or write English. James Zantaras, an interpreter, and Karanopoulos thanked the court for their kindness in giving him a fair trial.

WILL PRESENT GLASS CASE FOR TROPHIES

Senior Class at High School Decide on Token To Be Presented To School at Graduation.

A large beautiful oak trophy case, with glass front and sides, to contain all of the precious athletic and forensic cups and emblems, will be the token to the high school, from the Janesville high school graduating class of 1931.

Since the 1912 banner year, when the high school began to pile up winning teams, and secure so many trophies, it has been the desire of the students to have a case, placed on a shelf in the assembly room, with all these emblems including the sheepskin placed therein. The senior class will see that nothing but the best kind of a case is installed, and that will add to the beautiful collection of trophies now covering the walls at the high school.

VAUDEVILLE SHOW IS PLEASING AUDIENCES

Acts at the Myers Theatre Prove Most Entertaining to Good Sized Audience.

Last evening marked a second success of the vaudeville at the Myers Theatre. The audience was delighted with the program and the moving pictures which were thrown on the screen for the second time from the new machines arranged in the balcony. The troupe of trained dogs, again were the feature of attraction, and Barber and Jackson's skit was well received. Arthur Turley was amusing to say the least. This afternoon at the Matinee the first presentation of the camera in their wonderful creations of the Argentine tango and the Maxine and other dances delighted the audience. These vaudeville entertainments come every Thursday, Friday and Saturday from now on.

MILITARY ACADEMY
GIVES HIGH HONORS TO GEORGE SHERMAN

Janesville Youth Who Graduates From St. John's Is Qualified to Command U. S. Troops.

George Clark Sherman, son of Mrs. Will Sherman, of this city, will graduate from St. John's Military Academy, Delafield, Wisconsin, on June 12th. Young Sherman entered the academy two years ago, and from the day of his entrance he has had an enviable record. In scholastic work he is in the top section of the upper third of his class, a class of forty-eight men. For two years past he has been one of the star "ends" on the academy football team. Considering the class play the above is no small athletic honor. He is above in no small athletic honor.

GEORGE C. SHERMAN

has twice won the athletic insignia of his school. He has received several honors in the military department of the school. During part of the present year he has been in the adjutant's office, and at Easter time received his appointment as an officer of the corps. His name is among those which will be sent to the Adjutant General of command troops.

"Sherm," as he is called at the academy, has a host of friends in the faculty, and in the Corps of Cadets generally, among whom he counts as his personal friend, President Smythe. "Sherm" will leave the academy with the good wishes of every man in the school, certainly a tribute to the stuff that is in the younger man. It should be a source of pride to his mother and his friends that in a school where nothing can ever be gotten except by the hardest kind of hard work, and on sheer merit, that this Janesville boy is among the leading men of the school.

The young man has not yet determined whether he will enter the University, or go immediately to some sort of business. From the many pleasant things said of him by the school authorities, it is safe to say that whatever he undertakes he will make good.

PAINFULLY BURNED IN FIGHTING FIRE

William Crooks, Night Watchman at Thoroughgood Factory, Had Hands and Face Badly Scorched.

William Crooks, who resides at 308 Jackson street, night watchman at the Thoroughgood and company cigar factory on North Main street, was severely burned about the face and hands fighting a fire at the boiler room of the factory at six o'clock this morning. Both hands received bad burns, his right hand being painfully scorched, his face blistered, and his eyebrows and hair singed.

The fire started in a huge pile of fine shavings that was piled in front of the furnace doors. Crooks was just starting the fire, when the draft blew open the doors and the flames caught in the shavings. Immediately the whole mass was in flames and Crooks received his burns from fighting the fire. From the pile the flames shot up into the storage bin for the shavings and the interior was fired.

The fire department arrived just as the fire had obtained a good start in the bin. The firemen had to climb down into the bin from above and a lead of hose from the outside connection soon washed all the shavings out. The damage was nominal.

Mrs. W. W. Maflay leaves today for her home in Williams, where she expects to reside in the future.

GIRLS ARE STRANDED IN LAUNCH UP RIVER

HIGH SCHOOL PARTY MAROONED FOR AN HOUR ON SAND BAR.

MOTHERS IN A PANIC

Frantic Parents Wait Anxiously at Boat Landing Until Last Boats Arrive at Ten O'clock Last Night.

A picnic which occasioned some joy, some fright, and a good deal of worry on the part of the parents at home, took place yesterday afternoon when a party of four thirty and thirty-two when the two young ladies literary societies of the high school held an outing up the river some eight or nine miles, at which the Lausanne girls were the guests of the Philotaxian club.

After having enjoyed a delightful ride up the Rock river and with a delicious picnic supper served at one of the beauty spots along the banks, the four launches, chartered to carry the fifty girls and chaperones, turned toward home about seven o'clock, expecting to arrive at the launch club by nine o'clock. The boats came down the river two by two, and it would be more safe, as there was a large number in each launch.

The first two launches traveled much faster than the rear two, and in a short time, were well down the river. When they reached the second sand bar, one of the launches turned in too close to shore and got stuck in the sand. With the assistance of the other boat close at hand, and with the tugboats, it was pulled out, and the launch was cleared from the barrier, in an hour's time and the pair arrived at the dock at nine-thirty.

The two rear launches, about five miles without any trouble, until one of the engines refused to work. It was noticed that the propeller got stuck in the mud, in shallow water, close to shore, and after five minutes work both engines started toward the city. It was necessary for one to tow the other, as the latter's engine responded only intermittently.

Parents of the girls became worried at about ten o'clock and when the two rear boats landed at ten-thirty at the dock, a good many of the mothers were there to meet them.

The chaperones were the Misses Munroe, Vymen, Bailey, Simmons, Price and Sprague of the high school faculty. The girls had a good time regardless of the delay in getting home and they are little the worse for their unpleasant experience.

TWO THOUSAND FLIES ARE RECEIVED TODAY

But One Week Remains in "Swat the Fly" Campaign—Children Have Taken Little Interest.

Exactly two thousand flies were handed in by 200 children to "swat the fly" this morning to Miss Florence Palmer at the public library. This is the first good news from the "Swat the Fly" campaign since early in May, when a committee of two hundred boys and girls started the campaign last Saturday, and but few preceding that time.

The children who handed in the pests this morning, and the number, is as follows: Doris Carlson and Alice Lezow, both from the fourth grade, Adams school, 100 each; Ruth Munson, Grant school, fifth grade, 100; Lucile Harshorn, Grant school, fifth grade, 100; Nancy DeLisle, Lincoln school, eighth and sixth grades, respectively, 200 and 300 flies; Catherine Seidmore, Washington school, fourth grade, 400; Dallas Craig, sixth grade, Grant school, 50.

There is but another week left in this great disease-preventing campaign. Owing to the fact that next Saturday is Decoration day, and that the library will be closed, the time for turning in the last lot of flies has been changed to Friday afternoon, between the hour of four and five.

The interest taken in the fly campaign has been small, due perhaps to the lack of means for collecting the children, and to the fact that the children are saving their pests until the last of the month, to spring a surprise, and if such is the case there may be a heavy thousand of the dead ones handed in on next Friday afternoon at the library.

MISS INA KEMMERER WEDS HARRY HYZER

Ceremony Is Solemnized at One O'Clock This Afternoon at Home of Bride's Father.

Miss Ina Kemmerer, daughter of C. W. Kemmerer, and Harry D. Hyzer, were married at one o'clock this afternoon at the bride's home on North Bluff street, the Rev. T. D. Williams of the Cargill M. E. church reading the marriage service.

Three vocal selections were beautifully sung by Miss Mildred Loucks of Chicago, immediately before the ceremony, and Mrs. E. E. Danke, cousin of the bride, played Mendelssohn's wedding march as the bridal party advanced to a bower of roses and smilax. Miss Florence Parker was the bridesmaid and Vernon Loucks of Chicago attended the groom.

The bride was attired in a gown of crepe mure with shadow lace and pearl trimming and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Parker wore a gown of white embroidery, voile over pink messaline and carried an arm bouquet of Killarney roses.

A four course luncheon was faultlessly served by personal friends of the bride.

Mr. Hyzer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hyzer, Milwaukee avenue, and is assistant superintendent of the local water works plant. He is a young man of sterling worth, and has ready for occupancy a costly furnished home at 444 Fifth avenue. The bride grew to womanhood in this city and counts her friends by her acquaintances.

Mrs. Hyzer received many beautiful wedding presents. They left on a honeymoon trip to Denver, Colo., and other western points and will be at home in this city after July 1st.

Observance of Thirtieth Anniversary Will be Occasion For Grand Reunion.

Tomorrow will be a notable day for Rock county Hibernians who will observe the thirtieth anniversary of the foundation of the order in the city with a grand reunion banquet and initiation at which men of national prominence will speak.

Every member of Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians, is requested to be present for the first gathering of the day which will be at two-thirty o'clock for the initiation of a class of twenty or thirty candidates. National President James J. Regan of St. Paul will take part in the work and a number of prominent men who organized the Rock county division thirty years ago, will be present.

Seven Madison men will also be received into the order at this time. Elaborate arrangements have been made for the complimentary banquet which will be served at six-thirty o'clock at Terpsichorean hall. The ladies of the auxiliary will be guests at the banquet and an affair of unusual brilliance is assured. W. H. Dougherty will preside as toastmaster and the address of welcome will be given by Dean E. E. Reilly of St. Patrick's church. Several members of the auxiliary will be called upon for remarks and the address of the evening will be given by President Regan, who is recognized as one of the greatest orators of the country. Father Knox of Madison will also have an address and representatives from the Madison and Milwaukee orders will be called upon. It is expected that Mrs. McWhorter, national chair lady of Irish history, will also be present and will appear on the program.

Heffernan, John Dawson, Charles Newton, William Mulligan, Joseph Delaney, James Cassidy, George Kelly, and William Joyce.

BUILDING CODE MEET ON MONDAY MORNING

Expect Large Attendance at Building Code Hearing at Council Chambers Monday Morning.

A large attendance is desired at the building code hearing which will be held at the council rooms of the city hall Monday morning starting at 9:30 o'clock. Contractors, builders, and people who are considering building work are urged to attend to obtain information of the measures of the proposed code.

A member of the state commission will be present to explain the scope of the laws, which include fireproof construction and equipment, standardization of structural design. Janesville contractors have generally formed an opinion that the present code is entirely too strict and would tend to prohibit the building because of the cost of the law in constructing buildings the cost would be so high that fair returns could not be made from renting. The city has practically no jurisdiction or power in making regulations for the code but to consider local conditions and makes no exceptions to local laws.

The standardizing and regulating of construction work is satisfactory, because the contractors and the average builder cannot afford to pay the cost of a building as prescribed in the code. To eliminate fire danger is one of the biggest features of the proposed measures. Mr. Chas. H. Klein and city officials will attend the hearing and a large attendance of interested people is expected.

PLUCK OFF FLOWERS IN PRIVATE YARDS

First Ward Residents Complain That Flower Beds and Window Boxes Are Despoiled.

Complaints are coming from residents of the First ward that flower beds and window boxes are being despoiled by youthful vandals, who usually get in their work under the cover of darkness. Blossoms are ruthlessly plucked off, young plants are trampled on, shrubbery is torn up and other damage inflicted. So far efforts to trace the culprits have been futile, although it is known that a number of younger boys are responsible. The matter has been taken up with the grade teachers and it is probable that there will be several juvenile court cases on the docket if the depredations do not cease.

Judge Holds Emperor Has No Special Standing in Private Trade—Have Groves for German Heroes.

Berlin, May 23.—If the emperor desires to buy a pair of shoes, he can buy them at any shoe store, or else go without. The laws regulating sale and delivery of goods on Sunday apply to the ruler in the same degree as to his meanest subject.

This is the decision of a Prussian court in the case of a sausage dealer who appealed from a fine of $125 for violating the Sunday observance laws. The sausage dealer, shortly before midnight, the hour at which all shops in Berlin must be closed, the emperor's private cook telephoned from the new palace at Potsdam an order for sausages for the imperial table. The dealer loaded the desired wares on a delivery wagon and started it for the railroad station. On the way, however, the delivery man was stopped by a policeman, who inquired why he was violating the law. The representative of the emperor was waiting for the sausages had no effect on the policeman, and the result was the fine for the merchant.

On appeal the merchant set forth that his action came under the saving clause of the Sunday observance laws, which provides that Sunday orders may be filled where "their immediate carrying out is demanded by the public interest." The order of the emperor's cook, he said, was such a case. The court rejected the appeal, saying it is of no consequence that the emperor was the customer. The emperor has no special standing in private trade. It is the business of his private cook to send in his Sunday orders in time, just as any housewife must do.

Oppose Vaccination.
A discussion in the reichstag has just shown that there is widespread opposition in Germany to compulsory vaccination. On a motion to appoint a commission composed equally of friends and opponents of vaccination for the purpose of studying the whole question, party lines were completely obliterated, and the motion failed only by a tie vote.

The anti-vaccinationists claimed that hundreds of cases occur where health is injured by the practice, and it was pointed out that official statistics show that thirty-two deaths were caused in Prussia in 1912. They further asserted that managers of stations for obtaining lymph from calves have themselves admitted the impossibility of getting a pure lymph in all cases. The German law does not permit compulsory vaccination, but the police authorities have everywhere construed it as giving them the right to require vaccination, and when it becomes necessary they use compulsion. A representative of the imperial health office, however, said that there were only eight or nine cases yearly where compulsion was necessary.

Many Punished.
A Socialist speaker claimed that some parents have been punished five or six times for refusing to have their children vaccinated, and some of them were sent to prison. Hundreds of thousands of people in Germany, he added, have to act contrary to their conscience in having their children vaccinated, and the example of England, where a conscience clause was adopted some years ago, was held up for imitation by Germany. The case of Italy was also pointed out as worthy of study. It was asserted that vaccination is no where practiced so extensively as in that country, and yet nowhere is smallpox so frequent. Dr. Kirschner of the imperial health office answered all this by displaying a statistical table showing a steady reduction in smallpox since the present law was enforced.

Grove of Heroes.
A unique memorial to great Germans is gradually being built at Karlsruhe, near Engelskirchen, an hour's ride from Olgone. The "Grove of Heroes" is the name of the place, and it is hoped that it will eventually prove a Mecca for patriotic Germans and perhaps a place of yearly patriotic gatherings at which men would speak and the memory of the illustrious dead shall be commemorated.

A young farmer named Karl Bosen set aside a large grove on his farm and began setting up monuments to the memory of the great. To date the monuments for Bismarck, Goethe, Luther, Theodor Koerner, Ernst Moritz Arndt, Schiller, Beethoven, Queen Louise and Frederick the Great.

CONSTRUCT BIG DIKE TO HOLD BACK WATER FROM THE GATUN LAKE

Panama, May 24.—One of the most important pieces of work on the canal has just been completed. For over six months work has been in progress on a dike known as the Saddle dike, built to prevent Gatun from running into the Atlantic ocean. The dike is located about 25 miles north of Gatun and can only be reached by a narrow path of a few feet wide, through which the waters might have worked their way and thus washed a passage into the Atlantic.

To prevent this the dike, or saddle, was built high and about 1,200 feet long. The work on the dike was done by about 4,000 men were employed, this great number being necessary because of the prevalence of malaria. It was the breeding place of mosquitoes and every man who went into the place was almost sure to be affected. It is said that a white man who worked on the dike was brought out of the district and died, however, not a death occurred. The dike is now being worked through, and the health of the men being brought back to the canal zone.

EDITORS OF PAPER WIN LIBEL SUIT ON CHARGE MADE BY RAILWAY CO.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Christiania, May 24.—The question of Norwegian emigration to Canada has been brought into prominence by the trial of a libel suit against the agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The plaintiff in the suit was David Jacobson, who was until recently the Norwegian Consul at Montreal.

He returned to the railway's immigration agency here. While in Canada Mr. Jacobson sent reports to his government denouncing the alluring promises held out by the Canadian authorities for attracting emigrants. He represented that the railways gave the most difficult work to Norwegian laborers, that these were inadequately paid and not well protected legally in a trip home. Mr. Jacobson gave the railway in which he expressed the same views.

The libel suit was based on an article which criticized the former consul, comparing his work as agent to promote emigration to Canada to his consular utterances on the subject. The verdict was in favor of the newspaper.

PATRIOTIC CELEBRATION IN HONOR OF VICTORIA

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
London, May 23.—Empire Day, the birthday of the late Queen Victoria, falling on Sunday this year, Britishers were today generally celebrating the anniversary today, and flags were flown and numerous patriotic gatherings arranged. In Hyde Park there was a monster parade by Boy Scouts, cadets and boys brigades. Field Marshal Earl Roberts taking the salute while numerous soldiers and politicians were present. This year the organizing committee from the League of the Empire was started to receive an ultimatum from the boys brigades that they could not attend if the various girls' societies were invited, and despite efforts to smooth over the difficulty, the boys remained firm and the girls had to hold a separate parade. The boys' leaders were of the opinion that the presence of girl scouts, and other girl corps laid the movement open to ridicule. "Jealous wretches," said the girls, but to no avail.

CLAIMS SOLDIERS ARE KILLED BY VIBRATIONS OF MODERN PROJECTILES

Paris, May 24.—Curious confirmation of the belief that men can be killed and wounded by the wind of passing projectiles was given in a paper by Professor Laurent, of Brussels, read recently before the French Academy of Science.
Professor Laurent declared that several cases had come under his notice during the Balkan wars of soldiers who showed symptoms of cerebro-spinal disturbances, though they had no wound of any kind. The symptoms were fainting, a tingling sensation and even partial paralysis. In the more serious cases the victims became cataleptic. Sometimes death resulted. In the latter cases autopsies were performed which failed to show any nervous lesions. It then appeared to Professor Laurent that the vibrations of air produced by the passage of a ball and the sudden variations of atmospheric pressure affected the nerve cells and caused the phenomena of inhibition. Professor Laurent recalled that during the war in Manchuria Dr. Matignon had also observed nervous inhibition produced by cannon balls. Since the speed of modern projectiles has been increased and they have become more important to warfare, Professor Laurent looks for a larger number of cases of the kind indicated during conflict.

Socialists Gain.
The most important fact brought out by the 1914 elections for the Chamber of Deputies is the slow but decided progress made by Socialism. This is all the more significant because the body of the French people is intensely conservative and clings to existing things tenaciously. In eight years the Socialist vote has increased by 520,772. In the elections of 1906, the party received 871,990 votes; this figure was increased to 1,110,561 in 1910, and this year the Socialist candidates polled altogether 1,398,771 votes. The total number of votes polled being 8,328,876, the Socialist vote amounts to a little over 16 per cent.

SHACKLETON MAKES PREPARATIONS FOR NORWAY EXPEDITION

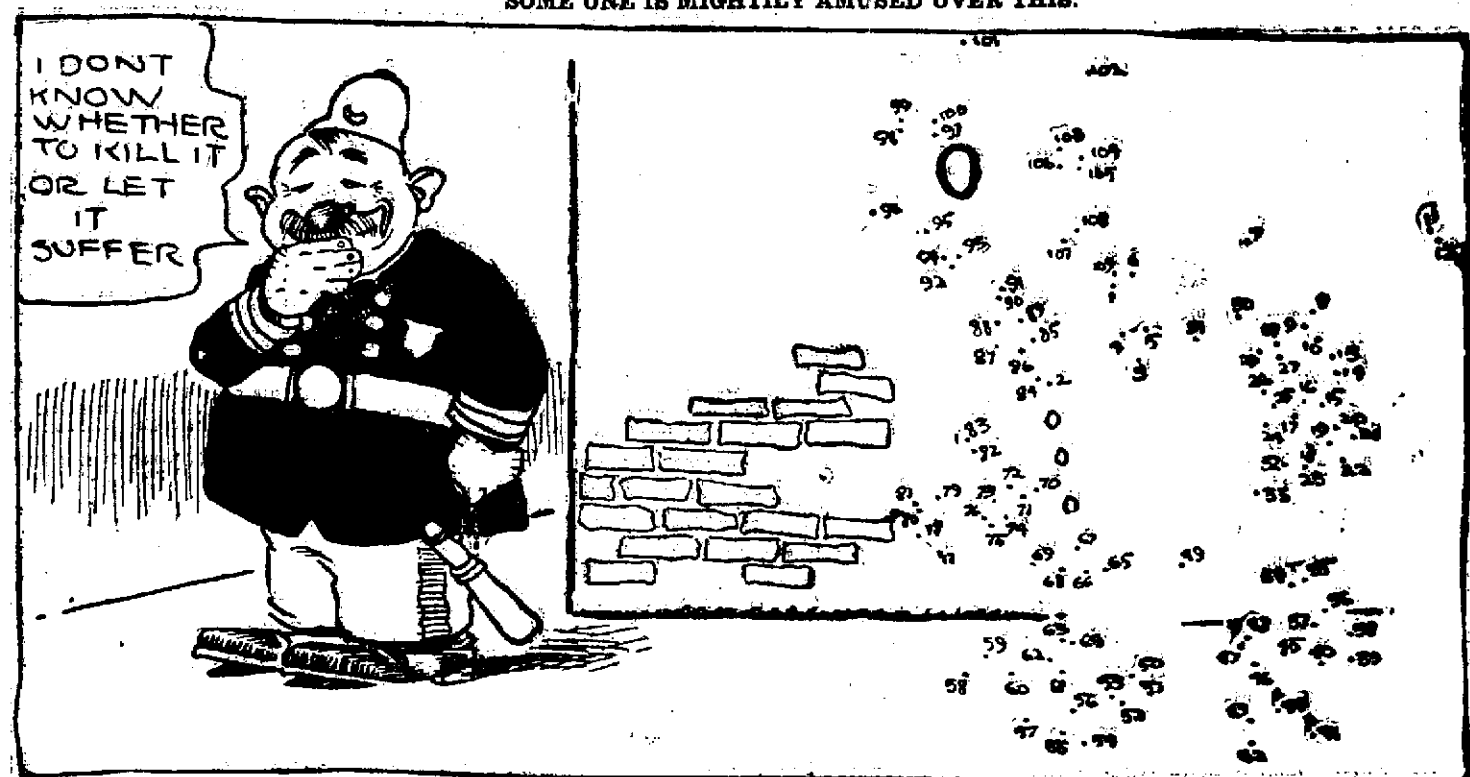

Testing New Rations and Arctic Equipment for Norway Expedition Trip—Has New Ship.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
London, May 23.—With the thoroughness which has always characterized his work, Sir Ernest Shackleton is about to make a preliminary trial expedition under Arctic conditions in the glaciers of Norway. This will be for the special purpose of testing the rations for his trip across the Antarctic continent, which he hopes to make in four and a half months time. No party ever started out without having food depots, to make such a distance as that in a straight line, but Sir Ernest and his men have made special preparations for the attempt.

They have, with the aid of the Royal Army Medical Corps, evolved the "perfect ration." It will average only 33 ounces daily, as compared with the three pounds or more consumed by the average man, but it is believed it represents the highest nutritive value for polar travel.

Sir Ernest will be accompanied by five members of his staff when he goes to Norway to conduct experiments with these rations and also test his tents and motor sledges. The party will don polar kit and travel among the glaciers. While the cold will not be as intense as in the polar regions, the country will furnish the same sort of sudden blizzards as are experienced in the Antarctic.

The party will test the effect and potency of the rations in most detailed fashion. Such an experiment never has been made before.
Shackleton's new ship, the Endurance, has been almost completely fitted in Norway and will arrive at the London docks this month. She is eighteen feet longer than his last ship Nimrod. She is a beautiful specimen of a wooden ship building, and probably the last of her class that will be constructed. Her whole keel is made of solid oak five and a half feet thick, and her sides are two feet thick. She belongs to the barkentine class, has a wooden hull, and a Scotch star board, and have been bred in Northern Canada. The lightest of them will turn the scales at eighty pounds whereas the heaviest dog with the last Shackleton expedition weighed 45 pounds. They have been selected by the experts of the Hudson's Bay oil has been used the tanks will be filled with water ballast. The Endurance will take on 100 tons of coal briquettes at the South Shetland Islands, so she will enter the Weddell sea with full bunkers.

The second ship, Aurora, for the Ross Sea side of the expedition, has been purchased and will be delivered at Hobart, Tasmania, at the end of August.

The Endurance, which is to operate on the opposite side of the Antarctic, will leave England early in August for Buenos Aires, whence she will finally start for the Antarctic base in October. Most of the members of the expedition will leave England in the Endurance but Sir Ernest Shackleton will travel later by mail steamer, and join his ship at Buenos Aires.

The dogs, which constitute an important factor in the expedition, are a cross between a wolf and a Scotch star board, and have been bred in Northern Canada. The lightest of them will turn the scales at eighty pounds whereas the heaviest dog with the last Shackleton expedition weighed 45 pounds. They have been selected by the experts of the Hudson's Bay Company, and will be under the charge of one of the most experienced drivers from Canada, who was chosen by the Commissioners of the North West Mounted Police.

The latest appointments to the expeditionary staff are Sir Philip Lee Brocklehurst, who was with Shackleton in 1907 and 1908 and who made the first ascent of Mount Erebus, and his brother, Lieut. Courtney Brocklehurst of the 11th Hussars. Hundreds of applications for positions with the expedition have been received.

Breeding Minks for Fur.

A contribution to the growing industry of fur farming has been undertaken by the U. S. Biological Survey in the shape of experiments in breeding minks for size, quality of fur and disposition. A mink farm has been started near Pritchard, Idaho, in the Coeur d'Alene National Forest, and similar experiments are under way in the National Zoological Park in Washington, D. C.

What more is there to be said?

Every now and then, swift currents of discussion swirl around the Cadillac. For long, long periods, it almost seems as though there were no effort to combat the dominating prestige of the Cadillac.

And during these periods of peace, warm words of praise and appreciation are spoken even by makers of and dealers in other cars.

But "business is business"—and human nature is human nature. And sometimes the overwhelming favor in which the Cadillac is held becomes almost unbearable to some of those interested in cars aspiring to compete.

And then there comes a little fighting flurry, and fretful things are said, and for a while few there are who do not endeavor to establish equality with the Cadillac.

But the storm dies down,—the public never wavers nor changes,—and even those other dealers and other makers go back to their old attitude of admiration.

Was there ever another trade condition like this condition—in which the major part of a tremendous industry almost revolves around one car?

You know it to be true—you know that the Cadillac is a criterion wherever motor cars are discussed. And you know that Cadillac owners remain unmoved, no matter what the flurry. You know that argument adverse to the Cadillac is wasted argument with them. You know that they are solidly entrenched in supreme content.

And in the face of that big fact—which has expressed itself in sales aggregating one hundred and thirty millions of dollars (130,000,000.00)—how unnecessary for us to importune or to urge. All the Cadillac arguments we could advance in a score of announcements would not be one-hundredth part as impressive as the positive knowledge you hold in your own mind at this moment.

You know that the Cadillac is in very fact the standard of the world.

Censor Bans Costly Film.

G. A. Redford, the British censor of films, who was formerly censor of plays, has banned the cinema version of Laurence Cowen's drama, "The World, the Flesh and the Devil." The film cost $50,000 to produce and hundreds of contracts have been made for its exhibition in London and the provinces, while foreign rights have been secured for the film to be shown on the continent, in America, India, and even as far away as Siam and Japan. Redford allowed the production of the play, but held that a scene depicting a young girl's betrayal was objectionable in the film.

Studies Garbage System.

Mrs. Flora Spiegelberg of Riverside, New York, has begun a campaign for the dustless and sanitary collection of ashes and garbage. She has complete data of the methods of handling ashes and garbage in 150 cities in Germany, where the work is so well done that neither the ashes nor the garbage are exposed to the air from the time they leave the basement of the house until they reach the incinerating plant. She says the present system in New York is simply terrible. She says that when ashes are mixed with garbage it helps to make the latter more sanitary.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

THE OLD MISUNDERSTANDING.

IN THE columns of the daily paper, the other day, I read a letter from a mother who wonders what the young people of this generation are coming to.

Her daughters, she says, are a terrible trial to her. They simply are not willing to do as she wants them to. They insist on wearing too thin clothes in the winter; they pick out these exaggerated styles; they use slang and they seem to think of nothing but having a good time.

Now, my dear madam, you didn't write to me, but I'm going to say a few words to you just the same.

Did it ever occur to you that some of the trouble between you and your daughters might be your fault as well as theirs? They are not willing to do what you want them to, you say, and you think it is very strange. But is it? When did you ever see things in the same way as age? You do not blame them because their skin is clearer, their eyes brighter and their motions quicker than yours. Is it any more reasonable, then, to blame them for being less sensible than you? Less interested in warm clothes and more in good times?

Let me tell you what one of the most successful mothers I know said on this subject the other day. "It seems to me," she declared, "that the reason why a great many mothers and daughters do not get along together is that the mothers have entirely forgotten how they felt when they were young. They try to make their daughters think and act like older women. Now, I've never tried to make Margaret wear flannel petticoats and act like an old woman. I know I didn't want to when I was a girl. You see I'm not so very much older than she, and I have not forgotten how I felt when I was young."

Yes, I know we older folks want to give the benefit of our experience to the younger generation. We are wiser than they, we think, and we want to keep them from mistakes.

Of course we do, and yet after all we are always wiser. We see things differently, but we are always right?

"Age is no better, hardly so well qualified for an instructor as youth. For it has not profited so much as it has lost," says Thoreau. And Stevenson declares, "Old people have faults of their own; they tend to become cowardly, suspicious and suspicious. Whether from the growth of experience or the decline of animal heat, I see that age leads to these and certain other faults; in short, if youth is not much more right in its opinions, there is a strong probability that age is not much more right."

When youth and age fail to understand each other, the greater fault lies with age. Why? Because youth has never been old, but age has once been young. Youth cannot remember, but age can—if it will only try.

stand one-half hour. Fill the tomatoes with cucumbers, cut in small cubes and mix with mayonnaise dressing. Arrange on lettuce leaves and garnish the top of each with mayonnaise dressing forced through a pastry bag and tube.

Orange Frappe—One cup sugar, one cup orange juice, two cups water, pulp of four oranges, four table-spoons lemon juice. Boil sugar and water six minutes, add other ingredients and freeze to a mush. Serve in frappe glasses with orange syrup and sprinkle with candied orange peel, finely chopped, or with whipped cream.

The Kitchen Cabinet

An effort is pleasing in proportion as it is attained by little effort and simple means.

Life is but a succession of opportunities. They are good or evil as we make them.—Jordan.

SOME FISH DISHES.

Fish is a food which is easily digested and is good for indoor workers on that account.

Halibut Steak.—Make a rich sauce of tomatoes thickened with flour and butter cooked together, a chopped green pepper and a slice of onion cooked to season, for 15 minutes. Lay the halibut in a little oil and vinegar, and let stand for an hour. Lay the fish on the rack in the roaster, pour the sauce over it, cover and bake 12 minutes. Sift Parmesan cheese over the fish and cook five minutes longer. Serve upon a hot dish, pouring the sauce over it.

Sour cucumber pickles cut in bits and added to a white sauce is a good sauce to serve with fish.

Curry of Salmon.—Open a can of salmon two hours before using and remove all the bits of bone and skin. Fry a minced onion in two table-spoons of olive oil and then add a table-spoonful of flour mixed with a table-spoonful of curry, and when well blended a cupful of boiling water. Season and stir for a moment, then turn in the salmon. When hot serve with lemon.

Salmon Loaf.—Flake cold boiled salmon and moisten with a half cupful of cream the same amount of milk and two beaten eggs. Stir in a quarter of a cupful of fine breadcrumbs, the juice of half a lemon, a table-spoonful of butter, salt and pepper to taste, and a spoonful of minced parsley. Mix well and turn into a well greased pudding dish and bake for three-quarters of an hour, then turn out on a platter. Serve with a fine sauce.

Fish Bisque.—Pick up and free from bones, any fish, baked, broiled or boiled, pour over it a pint of oyster liquor, and butter, pepper and salt, and put over the fire, stir in a cupful of bread crumbs soaked in milk, simmer for three minutes and serve. Bearnaise sauce to serve with fish is one well liked. Beat the yolks of two eggs, stir in a few drops at a time, three table-spoonfuls of oil, cook over water, add three table-spoonfuls of boiling water, a table-spoonful of lemon juice, a dash of salt and cayenne.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have an Italian marble statue. Can you tell me how to clean it without it turning yellow looking? MRS. L. B.

I think if you will make a soda of a good white soap and scrub the statue with a soft brush it will come out clean and white. A little ammonia can be put in the rinsing water.

Women Worth While

MRS. VICTOR MURDOCK.

(By Selene Armstrong Harmon.)

What woman is there who, once turned thirty, has not fallen on prosaic days?

Answer: Mrs. Victor Murdock. About her is a glamour of romance which the passing years can never dull. She married at sixteen, and with her dashing young husband, then nineteen, began life on a salary of nine dollars per week. Nor is this the most romantic fact connected with Mrs. Murdock's married life. The most romantic fact is that she is glad she did it.

"Life is more complex now than it was in Kansas twenty years ago," Mrs. Murdock always says when she comes to explain how easy it was for a girl of sixteen to defy fate, fly in the face of providence, and marry a youth of nineteen, with nine dollars a week and prospects. "Impossible as it may seem, the romance of the Murdocks began a long time before their marriage. They were sweethearts as children. When Mrs. Murdock, then Pearl Allen, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Allen of Wichita, arrived at the dignity of dresses to her shoes, she was sternly admonished by her parents to forget the red-headed, impetuous boy who carried her books to and from school for her. Mr. and Mrs. Allen explained to her that they liked young Victor well enough, but as for boy and girl affairs, no girl ever married her first sweetheart, and so on. They sent their daughter to Indiana to boarding school, and young Murdock went to work on his father's paper, the Wichita Eagle.

"I made a brave attempt to content myself with acquiring wisdom," Mrs. Murdock has told her friends. "But it was no use. My efforts in this direction were short lived. My parents, with good sense, and a real desire for my happiness, brought me home, and in a short time Mr. Murdock and I were married."

One of the first decisions at which the young people arrived after their marriage was that Victor Murdock was worth more than nine dollars a week. He left his father's paper, went to Chicago and began work on one of the biggest dailies there. After letting his salary accumulate for two weeks he sent for his bride. Less than three years later they returned to Wichita, when Mr. Murdock became managing editor of his father's paper.

Mrs. Murdock takes the deepest interest in her husband's career. It is doubtful if her ideas on the subjects of women voting, holding office and entering public life are half as radical and advanced as are Mr. Murdock's.

The Murdocks have two charming children, Marcia, a girl just budding into womanhood and Katherine, a daughter of five or six years.

AMID WHIZZING BULLETS LOS ANGELES GIRL WEDS HEART'S CHOICE IN MEXICO

Mrs. Allen Henderson.

Amid whizzing of bullets and cries of battle, Miss Vida Edwards, one of the prettiest girls of Los Angeles, and Allen Henderson, prominent business man, were secretly married by a Spanish padre in an old abode church at Naco, Mexico, the other day, after a romantic elopement.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am deeply in love with a young man four years my senior. Two years ago he came to see me once a week for some time and then I treated him as I often see him now. He doesn't stop to talk with me, but he recognizes me. He has a business of his own and when I used to call him up by phone he always seemed to be busy and still he claimed at that time he loved me. I would like to expect him to call on me now, for I now realize I love him.

O. L. K.

Next time you see him ask him why he doesn't visit at your home any more. You can add that he will always find a welcome if he cares to come. Then it is up to him to call or not, as he wishes. Possibly by this time he has found somebody else who isn't cool to him. I doubt if you really love him, my dear. You only think so because he has neglected you and now your vanity wants to get him back.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am tanned. What will whiten the skin besides lemon juice and buttermilk? (2) Are white shoes to be worn this summer? BROWN EYES.

Peroxide will bleach the skin at first, but in time the skin will grow sallow and look dead and hard. Wash the face with buttermilk every night, and let the buttermilk stay on all night, next morning wash off with hot water and soap, dash with cold water, massage a tiny bit of cold cream into the skin and dust with a good rice powder. It will make a great improvement.

Household Hint

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

A weak solution of soda will revive the colors in the carpet by sponging it.

Drive six brass-headed tacks in the ironing board to take the place of a flat iron stand.

Old magazines heated in the oven make a good substitute for a hot water bottle. They hold the heat as long as can be used under the back, where a hot water bottle would not lie well.

If a shoe pinches in any particular part a cloth wrung out in hot water and laid over the place while the boot is on the foot will expand the leather and give relief.

Had the Laugh on Stephens.

The story is told of Alexander H. Stephens that at a political meeting he vigorously decried his opponent's charge, exclaiming, "I deny the fact!" "Yes," promptly replied his antagonist, "that is what I expected you to do. For twenty years you have been going around denying facts." The audience roared with delight and Mr. Stephens left the hall, having learned a valuable lesson in the use of a word.

Don't Go Back On Your Home Town

"I am going to leave this town, it's no good; you can't make a living here," said a young man to his mother a few months back. The boy's father was reading in the next room. He came to the door.

"I was not listening, son. I heard what you said. Get this! If you cannot earn a living in this town, whose fault is it? Conditions in most towns are the same. You will leave here, wander about; spend your time and money and in the end no doubt return to do what you are now defiantly claiming cannot be done in this town." The boy listened in sullen silence. He had been out job-seeking. He told his father so.

The father advised him to run and in his home town paper, one that would prove to the employers that a boy of grit and energy was out for work. He did so. He is making a living, in a position that has a good future.

Well? Do you believe in the judicious use of the want ad page? Do you know how strong its power is in your everyday life?

THE HEART SONGS OF 90.000.000 PEOPLE

Many of these songs cannot be found in any other collection. They came in yellow, time-worn, tear-stained sheets—that had been sacredly treasured from childhood—others were written out from memory—some were given by titles only—or remembered verses, involving a long search to obtain the whole.

Of the thousands received it is safe to say that the several hundred finally selected—as having the largest number of votes and the highest endorsement—represent today the taste of the American people in its choice of music.

We believe that the distribution of this unrivalled song collection will bring more happiness into the homes of our readers, will do more to make them attractive to young and old; do more to inculcate a love for music; to soften, elevate, and refine the home life; to cultivate the nobler and higher virtues of the fireside—than any other means we could adopt.

A Big Book, 518 Pages - Cardinal Seal Grain, Flexible Binding, Red Edges, Round Corners

More Than 400 Songs

EVERY SONG chosen for some personal association: some tender memory; some life-lasting effect; for the haunting beauty of its words; for the lilting music of its melody. The familiar songs of the long-ago, that are treasured in the heart forever.

Over 500 Pages

FOUR YEARS of song gathering to obtain the correct words and music of this unrivalled collection—many of them Folk songs only here published for the first time. Others never before found in a home volume. The real heart songs of 90,000,000 people.

Arranged in Lower Key

THE only songbook written and arranged in low key so that every member of the family can join in the singing. Many pieces harmonized and adapted for the first time to mixed voices. A veritable treasury of words wedded to music that is not for a day but for all time. For the family—for parties—for social gatherings.

With more than 100,000 copies already sold at $3.00 each—it was no easy matter to persuade the publishers to consent to a great daily newspaper practically giving away thousands of copies. I had pains through the small of my back. When I stooped over to nail a base board, I could hardly get up again. I used different medicines but wasn't benefited. I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills. It was Doan's Kidney Pills that quickly stopped the pain in my back. My kidneys began to do their work as they should and I was able to straighten without suffering. The Governor's Lady

A Novelization of Alice Bradley's Play

By Gertrude Stevenson

Copyright, 1914, (Publication Rights Reserved) by David Belasco

"Good God, Mary," he exclaimed, "can't you ever stop this endless mending? Haven't I begged you, day and night, not to mend my socks. I won't wear socks all over darns—they're uncomfortable."

Just a suggestion of a smile played around Mary Slade's sweet mouth as she answered:

"They're yours, Dan. It's the only thing left that I can do for you—now. I can't bear to see strangers touch off in a wistful sigh, a sigh which might on any other occasion have made its appeal to the earnest-faced man now gazing at her so grimly."

The lightness of her tone showed how little she realized the seriousness of the situation—how little she understood how inadequately she was filling her position as his wife. She loved her husband with the devotion of a slave and the reverence of a worshiper at a shrine, but, like many another good woman, she wanted to show her affection in her own way and not in his. Because she wanted to do for him with her hands, she turned a deaf ear to his pleas that she use her head. She wanted her husband to be happy and comfortable, but she wanted to make him happy and comfortable according to her own ideas of what ought to make a man satisfied. She had seen him rise gradually at first and then by leaps and bounds. Now that he had become wealthy and successful she wanted to decide for him that he ought to let well enough alone. To her it seemed foolish to bother about being governor, absurd for him to fret about the way she dressed and did things.

So, for awhile they sat in silence and the fire dying down left the room chilly, so chilly that Mary started up to get a shawl. Halfway to the door, she was peremptorily called back by her husband, who, ringing for a maid, dispatched her for the wrap, while Mary, humiliated and with something of the air of a martyr, went sighing back to the big, uncomfortable chair to resume the mending that was such an irritation to her husband.

"Why can't you learn to be waited on, Mary?" her husband asked, not unkindly. "Other women do."

"I'm slow—slow and old-fashioned," the woman answered, quietly, but with an air which plainly showed that she was perfectly satisfied with herself and that she thought he ought to be.

"I've never been with women who knew how to do those things. You didn't know any such people until later. I don't want to know them," she concluded with an engagingly confiding smile.

"But I can't go everywhere always alone," Slade expostulated. "A man's wife ought to go with him and meet the right kind of people—otherwise he's an outsider. What do you think I built this house for? I don't work in the mines any longer with my hands. I've got to use my head. I don't drink. I don't smoke. I don't dissipate—keep yachts and horses—or women. A man's got to do something. I'm going into public life, and I want to entertain here. You'd have me sit back and take it easy—and rust!"

"You deserve everything you've got, Dan," answered Mrs. Slade, inconsequently, entirely losing the point of his tirade. "You struggled like a dog. Nobody knows, only you and me. We've been through it together."

"Well," demanded Slade eagerly and hopefully, "why don't you march along with me then, Mary?"

His wife turned to him earnestly. For a moment Dan Slade thought the woman he loved was about to rise to the occasion.

"Dan," she said, "I'll tell you something. These expensive laundries ruin your shirts right off, and when I washed 'em they lasted a whole year. They ain't ironed right, either."

"Oh, my God!" groaned Slade, helplessly, placing her back of understanding rather than being angry with her.

"I wish you'd forget, Mary, that I had to let you wash and scrub once. We're up now. Let's kick the ladder out from under us and stay up—forget how we got here."

"But I don't want to forget," remonstrated the little wisp of a woman opposite him. "I was perfectly contented those days. I ain't now. I hate this house. I hate it. It's too big. The help scare me, so many of 'em. I'd like just one hired girl and my old sitting-room set." She stopped meditatively, her thoughts wandering back to the early days when her husband took his pick and dinner pail and tramped off to the mines, and she sang as she bent over the wash tub and busied herself at the kitchen stove.

Her husband sat with face averted, his imagination carrying him far into the future—a vision of honor as chief executive of the state and power in keeping with the untold riches he had accumulated.

"That's it," he finally exclaimed, "I want to go ahead and you want to stick over your wash tubs. I need the support of big people—got to mix with 'em, and be one of 'em. And you won't."

"No, I don't have to," replied Mary. "I needn't."

"You don't see the necessity of joining me?" he asked, testily.

"I don't know how."

"Do you want to know how?" he persisted.

"No," came the provokingly indifferent answer.

"You're putting the bars up in the middle of the road," he continued, "and I'm making up my mind to change things."

"This is some of Wesley Merritt's 'Tin-Horn Tooting Writing.'"

Suddenly Mary's lips quivered and a hurt look showed in her eyes behind the misty tears as she realized that whatever she did irritated her husband. She started to speak, but was interrupted by the entrance of a servant, who announced that Senator Strickland and his daughter had just phoned to say that he and his daughter would call on their way to the opera.

Slade's face flushed and paled at the thought—flushed at the pleasurable surprise at this unlooked-for attention from the senator, and paled as he thought of the senator's stunningly gowned daughter arriving to find his wife in a cheap, ill-fitting dress that would have looked badly even for morning wear.

"Mary, you look like a steaming passenger," he exclaimed suddenly, turning on the flustered little woman, who was agitated at the very thought of a call from the senator and his daughter. "Go upstairs and dress. I'll make excuses and hold them till you come down."

"I can't," she gasped. "I ain't got time, anyway, and I haven't anything to go to the opera in."

Slade leaned forward and struck the table with his clenched fist. "Don't you understand? You must see these people. Tonight's paper names me for governor. Strickland's influence is more necessary to me than any other man's in the whole state. He controls the party. He's bringing his daughter to my house. You're meeting them socially. Come on, now, come on!"

he became persuasive—"put on a nice little gown and come along and show them you can do something. We'll hold a reception here and it'll be a direct answer to Wesley Merritt's slur on you in tonight's paper."

"Sterilized" Business.

In industry and merchandizing, it is the dawn of a sterilized age in which sterilized corporations shall sell sterilized goods at sterilized prices and by sterilized methods. All the germs are to be extracted. If you make a little agreement to buy your raw material to sell your finished product, to steal a process from your neighbor, to fake the quality of your goods, to "get the jump" on a new market line—in fact to do any naughty thing—the trade commission will get you if you don't watch out.—C. "You say your automobile did not touch this man, and yet he was dead when you picked him up?" shouted the prosecuting attorney.

"That's my claim," coolly retorted

the prisoner. "My machine didn't touch him."

"And you saw this man start to cross the street?"

"Yes."

"Did you blow your horn?"

"I did."

"What sort of a horn is it?"

"One of those new-fangled clatter-boxes that create a sound that is a cross between a shriek and a dying wail."

"That explains it. You simply scared the man to death."

A WIDE HOUSE—By John Henry Newson

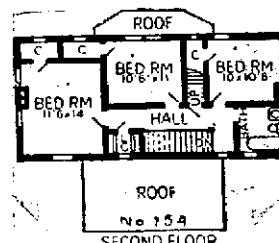

"Home of Character" No. 154

In this exterior is depicted a house of unusually good lines, because of the extreme frontage, and at the same time of sufficient depth to give the house a good body. The first floor has ordinary lap siding up to the top of the first floor windows and the balance of the house is shingled, while shingles would be appropriate for the roof. The foundation is of brick, as also the porch railing walls.

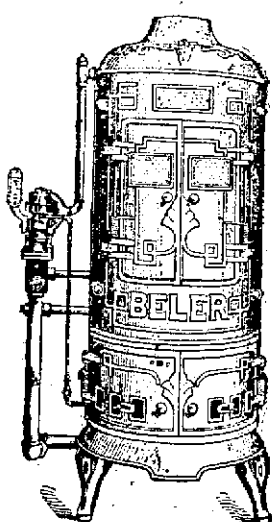

The house is entered through a small hall, from which a stair to the second floor raises and off of which open both the living room and the dining room. A pantry is provided between the dining room and kitchen and ice room and kitchen porch are arranged off the kitchen. The living room, dining room, main bedroom and upper and lower halls have hardwood floors and finish and the two remaining bedrooms are finished in pine with hardwood floors, while the bath is white enamel. The bath is placed over the kitchen, and between the two rear bedrooms a stairway is arranged to the attic.

Three thousand dollars should build this house 37x18 feet under average conditions. Under favorable conditions it could be built for $2700, but in a large city or under expensive building conditions the cost might run to $3500.

If you are thinking of building let The Gazette Homes of Character Department help you through advice from John Henry Newson. Address your inquiries to him "Homes of Character" Dept., The Gazette. Give the numbers of houses concerning which you make inquiry.

Make It Easier For the Housewife

House cleaning is so back-breaking that the housewife should not be obliged to do it oftener than in the spring and fall.

But if you postpone those repairs much longer—shingling, new floors, new windows, new porch, or what not—she'll have to do her spring house cleaning all over again—in the hot exhausting weather, too.

It costs no more to do it now and she will appreciate your thoughtfulness if you save her this extra work.

Fix Up Before the Clean-Up

Then the house cleaning can be done once for all. The house will look so much better, too, with the repairing done.

Let us know what the needed repairs are. You can readily find in our large complete stock just the repair materials you want. We will furnish you only the right quality of the right kind for the purpose for which you want it—and only as much as you need and you'll be pleased with our prices.

Let us help you help the housewife right away.
